Community members honored at Terrell chamber luncheon

The 111th Annual Membership Meeting and Industrial Recognition Luncheon presented by the Terrell Economic Development Corporation and Terrell Chamber of Commerce was held on Feb. 11 at Herman Furlough Jr. Middle School.

The event serves as a way to honor local Terrell citizens and businesses who contribute to the community.

The guest speaker was R. Scott DeFord who is a retired Special Agent with the United States Secret Service. Lunch was provided by Soulman's Bar-b-Que. John Lowrie of First Baptist Church in Terrell provided the event's invocation. Members of the Terrell High School Fighting Tiger Jazz Band provided pre-event music. The Kaufman County Young Marines presented the colors. Former Kaufman County Judge Bruce Wood was the master of ceremonies.

"Terrell's in a season of change and I'm excited to be a part of this community," Darren Lemons, Chairman of the Terrell Board of Directors, said. "And to carry on this long tradition of service to our great town. We've seen many changes over the last couple of years but the cooperation is like none other in Terrell. The way the City of Terrell, Terrell ISD, the Terrell Economic Development Corporation, the Terrell Chamber of Commerce, the County government, the local business; the way we come together is amazing."

The Rotary community service award was awarded to David Landua who is the founder and owner of U-Rent-It Sales and Service.

The community services award started in 1957 and the award goes to a community member who unselfishly gives up their time, talents and heart to the community they love.

"I want to thank the Terrell Rotary Club and all the people that I've met. I've met some wonderful people in my lifetime. Some incredible people. I've had some incredible people working for me. It's been a pleasure to work with the Chamber and all the different clubs." Landua said.

Micheal French, Terrell Independent School District Superintendent and Past Chairman of the Chamber Board of Directors, provided a complimentary quote about Landua at the Industrial Recognition Luncheon.

"How you support this town with not only your words but also your wallet is admirable. Everything you bought that I was bidding on [at the Terrell Chamber of Commerce Civic Auction] you turned around and donated it to the school anyway. When you have these types of folk, who do this type of thing, they deserve to be recognized," French said.

John and Sarah Kegerreis were awarded with an honorary life-membership in the Terrell Chamber of Commerce for distinguished service to the Terrell community.

"They've spend a significant amount of their lives giving back to other organizations through their volunteer work and especially to the Terrell Chamber of Commerce," Carlton Tidwell, the President of the Terrell Chamber of Commerce, said.

Susan Bennett-White was awarded the President's award.

"She has made several if not all of our ribbon cuttings. She always answers the phone when we call and says 'yes, I'll be there, I'll help and do what I can.' We appreciate her and her efforts in the past year much like we appreciate all of our volunteers," Tidwell said.

Ron and Gayle Harris were recognized with an award.

"We love to create a positive change and we have a couple in Terrell that have done just that. They started with a vision to bring life to some of the history of Terrell and they began to seek out areas of town that can be made more attractive with a mural. It started with some on the back of their own building then it expanded to 10 around the city with one of them being the largest mural in the area which is the replica of Frank Reaugh's 'Approaching Herd'. Tidwell said of Ron and Gayle Harris.

Tidwell recognized Kelly Lane Plumbing with an award. Kelly Lane has had its business in Terrell for 30 years.

Rick Carmona, Chairman of the Terrell Economic Development Corporation, recognized the Owner of Ter-Jan, Danny Stevens, with an award. Ter-Jan Company provides carpet and rug cleaning services that also include janitorial services, flooring and home interior, cleaning and restoration. Ter-Jan has been in Terrell for 50 years.

The Rotary community service award was awarded to David Landua who is the founder and owner of U-Rent-It Sales and Service.

John and Sarah Kegerreis were awarded with an honorary life-membership in the Terrell Chamber of Commerce for distinguished service to the Terrell community during The 111th Annual Membership Meeting and Industrial Recognition Luncheon presented by the Terrell Economic Development Corporation and Terrell Chamber of Commerce was held on Feb. 11 at Herman Furlough Jr. Middle School.
